Senators to appear on "Dancing On Ice Final"

14 March 2008

Reigning European Drum Corps Champions, The Senators are once again donning their showbiz garb for an appearance on the final program of the hit television show "Dancing on Ice" this coming Sunday 16th March 2008

Six of the Corps Drummers will be performing on the show and will be supporting the legendary ice dance duo Jayne Torvill and Christopher Dean in a performance to the music of Ravel's Bolero.

Renowned cellist Julian Lloyd Webber, younger brother of Andrew Lloyd Webber will accompany Torvill and Dean during their iconic performance of Bolero as the stars don their famous purple colours once again and take to the ice.

The Senators are honoured to have been asked once again to provide members for such a prominent and high profile event, and are working hard behind the scenes with the arrangements and rehearsals for the event which all takes place at Elstree Film Studios in Borehamwood throughout the weekend.

Tune in for the final "Skate Off" Show which screens live on ITV1 at 7.00pm on Sunday evening.
